

① Start of my Journey

I spent 8 years during Primary school with people saying I needed an assessment for something. I waited so long to get any support.

② Feelings

I don't remember everything but I remember how stressed and worried my parents were.

All the waiting made me feel frustrated, irritated, annoyed and bored.

I have 2 sisters who have also been waiting years for assessment and its been really hard.

MY STORY

There isn't enough information for families. We didn't feel listened to.

④ The Future

I'm an adult now and these things have really affected my life, my confidence, my career and my mental health. When you become an adult there isn't a lot of support. its like your left to fend for yourself. But I am part of Project Search and hopefully I will have a chance at a better future

③ School

School was toxic for me. I felt very misunderstood there. I was bullied. People just thought I was Naughty. I got help to read but didn't feel like I could be myself or learn the things I was interested in.
